M: Hello. International Friends Club. Can I help you?

W: Oh, hello. I read about your club in the paper today and I thought I'd phone to find out a bit more.

M: Yes, certainly. Well, we are a sort of social club for people from different countries. It's quite a new club—we have about 50 members at the moment, but we are growing all the time.

W: That sounds interesting. I'm British actually, and I came to Washington about three months ago. I'm looking for ways to meet people. Er, what kinds of events do you organize?

M: Well, we have social get-together, and sports events, and we also have language evenings.

W: Could you tell me something about the language evenings?

M: Yes. Every day except Thursday we have a language evening. People can come and practice their languages—you know, over a drink or something. We have different languages on different evenings. Monday—Spanish; Tuesday—Italian; Wednesday—German; and Friday—French. On Thursday we usually have a meal in a restaurant for anyone who wants to come.

W: Well, that sounds great. I really need to practice my French.

M: OK. Well, if you can just give me your name and address, I'll send you the form and some more information. If you join now you can have the first month free.

W: I'm happy to hear that.

M: I was planning a trip to Tibet long ago, but I couldn't go because I had a serious disease when I was 16.

W: I'm sorry to hear that. Have you completely recovered now?

M: Yes. I drove there with my friend last July.

W: Wow, you did a great job. How many years have you been driving?

M: Actually I began when I was 17. But I didn't get a driving license until I was 20. Now I am 27 and I can drive the car very well.

W: The trip won't be easy if you drive there. You'd better take an experienced mechanic with you.

M: Thanks for your suggestion.

M: So, we're back in class at last. I didn't see you around this summer, Mary. Did you leave Beijing?

W: Yeah, I told my parents I wanted to escape Beijing's heat, so they asked me to go to Wuhan to help my uncle with his business.

M: Wuhan? That's even worse.

W: Actually, I didn't go. I ended up in Xiamen. My uncle moved there at the last minute, and he asked me to stay with him there and help decorate his new apartment.

M: Did you find anything fun to do there?

W: Well, I did have some time to go to the beach, of course.

M: Wasn't it unbearably hot there?

W: No, it was surprisingly pleasant.

M: Did you like the food?

W: It wasn't terrible, but I must say that seafood isn't really my thing.

M: That's a shame! All that delicious, fresh fish, and nobody to appreciate it...

W: So what about a notebook computer? Have you thought about getting one instead of the desktop computer?

M: I'm not sure.

W: Well... you'll be able to carry it around and you can take it into our college with you. You needn't use the desktop computers at college then.

M: Maybe, but I'll probably need to buy a printer as well. Anyway, I don't really think I need a notebook computer. I work in my room most of the time, and I don't want to take one into college since computers are provided there.

W: Well, what about the desktop computer we saw in the window in the last shop? Shall we go back there? It was OK and it wasn't too expensive. There was software in it as well, so you won't have to pay anything extra.

M: Good idea. That's what I was looking for. Software is more expensive to buy separately. Let's go there now.

W: What about ringing your parents first?

M: There's no need to do that. They've already given me the money to pay for it.

W: Good morning, everyone. This is Helen Green with What to Do Today on the air. It's quite a warm and sunny Saturday. Now, if you've got nothing to do today, why not go to East Mountain in the city and get digging? That's the message from Sussex Middle School. It is organizing a tree-planting activity in East Mountain. Sussex Middle School is a member of the organization of Helping Blind Children. It is raising money for poor blind children in Asia by planting trees. A famous computer company agrees to give $30 for each tree to be planted in the city. Sussex Middle School is planning to plant 1,500 trees this weekend. Students and their parents are hoping to plant a half today. They are looking for volunteers to come along and help. Tree-planting experience is not necessary as there will be experts to give directions. Thick gloves will be provided to protect your hands when you are doing the digging. There're also hats provided. And please do bring basic tools with you to dig holes and water trees. Everyone is welcome to come along anytime from 10 am to 4 pm this weekend. So it could be really a nice day out for all the families.

This is What to Do Today. Thanks for your listening. Enjoy your day.

Today after class in the afternoon, our English group get together with our handsome English teacher. To start with, we sang a popular English song happy and then we practised our speak English. The topic we were talking about was the different between Chinese festivals or western ones. Most students compared the Spring Festival to Christmas, and others chose the Mid-Autumn Festival and Thanksgiving Day as a match.

As we had ~~been~~ 或 talked too much, all of us got quite thirsty. Seen this, our teacher fetched a box of bottled water from my office for us. What ^ timely offer! Thank you, my dear teacher!

One possible version:
Dear Mike,

I'm delightful to tell you that a student football match, which our football team will join in, will be held in our city. I wanted to invite you right after I heard the news because you once told me that you are a huge football fan.

The match, which I think is worth watching, starts in the city stadium at 9 o'clock in the morning. So we should be there ahead of time. We can meet at the school gate and leave at 7:30 am and then take the subway right to our destination.

I really wish you can come to watch the match with me. Please let me know your decision as soon as possible.

Looking forward to your early reply.

Yours,
Li Hua
